SPORTS

MAHAULU THE WINNER

Took Haleiwa Tourney From Ten Other Golfers.

The Haleiwa Golf Club had a medal tournament yesterday at Waialua. The day was an ideal one for golf.

There were ten competitors and the result was as follows.

	Gross.	H'cp.	Net.
1—A. Mahaulu	86	3	83
2—St. C. Bidgood	97	12	85
3—J. Little	121	25	96

Over forty guests were entertained at the Haleiwa hotel during the day.

THE HERMAN GANS BOUT

Without any squabbling over terms Joe Gans and Kid Herman have decided to fight before the Toneyah (Nevada) Athletic Club on New Year's day, and the battle will go either twenty rounds or to a finish, that being left entirely to the officials of the club.

The purse of $20,000 will be split 60 per cent, to the winner and 40 to the loser.

MARRIED MEN THE LEADERS

HILLO, November 20.—The much talked of match between the Hillo married men and bachelors did not come off according to schedule on Sunday.

Foreclosure of Mortgage

NOTICE OF INTENTION TO FORECLOSE MORTGAGE AND OF SALE.

Under and by virtue of a power of sale contained in that mortgage dated October 7, 1904, made by the YOUNG MEN'S GROCERY CO., LIMITED, a corporation existing under and by virtue of the laws of Territory of Hawaii, mortgagor, and JACINTHO JOSE RODRIGUES, mortgagee, notice is hereby given that said mortgagee intends to foreclose said mortgage for conditions broken, to wit: for the non-payment of interest and taxes when due. Notice is hereby likewise given that the leasehold conveyed by said mortgage will be sold at public auction, at the auction rooms of WILL E. FISHER, corner Fort and Queen streets, Honolulu, on

Monday, November 26, 1906

AT 12 O'CLOCK NOON OF SAID DAY.

The property covered by said mortgage and to be sold as aforesaid consists of:

All the right, title and interest of said mortgagor in and to that certain indenture of lease bearing date of the 11th day of February, A. D. 1903, made by the Kapiolani Estate, Ltd., of Honolulu to the late Candido Gracia, being the lease number 152 of a certain building lot situate on Luso street, near Punchbowl drive, in said Honolulu, with all and singular the premises therein mentioned and described, the buildings, together with appurtenances, and being the same premises that were assigned to the said mortgagor by deed of F. T. P. Waterhouse, administrator, dated the 13th day of September, A. D. 1904, more particularly described as follows:

Beginning at the west corner of this lot at a point where a narrow lane joins Luso street and running as follows, by true bearings:

though an attempt was made at it. The rain cooled the ardor of the players by the time the third innings was over for a steady downpour settled in and a general rush was made for shelter. As the game stood the married men were well in the lead with a score of 7 to 2. It would be going too far to say that the style of ball put up was the best ever seen in Hilo. The game will probably be finished next Sunday.

The teams were as follows:
Married—Solomon, c; Akau, p; Ke-anohou, 1b; Green, 2b; Tevis, 3b; Futado, ss; Siemsen, 1b; Mann, cf; Patten, rf.

Single—Osorio, c; Ragsdale, p; Todd, 1b; Hapai, 2b; Mahiula, 3b; Cressman, ss; McCann, lf; Swanson, cf; Ahip, rf. Umpires—R. J. Lyman, B. K. Baird.

FACTS ABOUT JOE WALCOTT

Editor Advertiser: How many fights has Joe Walcott had and is he incapacitated from boxing today?

SECOND.

[Walcott has had 116 fights, besides knocking out over 150 men of all sizes on the road with the Dixon combination. His last battle was with Honey Melody who won the welterweight championship from him, gaining the decision at the end of fifteen rounds. He will not be able to fight to any advantage again, as he has only one hand that he can use to advantage now, having shot himself through the palm with a magazine gun by putting his hand over the mouth of the barrel after he had killed another gentleman of the colored persuasion at a dance in Boston because the other man objected to Joe escorting his wife to the dance. Walcott was discharged by the court, the verdict being accidental shooting.—Ed.]

The Human Animal

In babyhood his mother called him a kitten.
When at college he was commonly called a calf.

After he left college he became among his friends a gay dog.

In business he was referred to as a sly fox.

On the Stock Exchange he was a bull or a bear.

In his love affairs he was a perfect tiger.

In society he was described as a lion.

(The neighbors called him a little monkey.)

(The girls usually dubbed him a puppy.)

(But according to his enemies he was a beast.)

(His competitors labeled him a wolf in sheep's clothing.)

HE MISSED NOT A STRIKE

"I met John L. Sullivan once in Philadelphia," said an actor. "He was living, with his theatrical company, on a car sidetracked at Ninth and Spring Garden streets. On meeting me he called me 'son' and accepted readily an invitation to dine downtown."

"As a hansom bore us out Market street in the twilight the City Hall clock was suddenly illuminated. John L. pointed to the shining dial and said quietly:

"Son, in my prime, I was like that clock. I kept my hands well up to my face; I never missed a strike when I could get one, and I was always ready for another round."

GUNNER MOIR AND O'BRIEN

If the English sportsmen are willing to "bet any amount" on Gunner Moir's chances against Jack O'Brien, as the English fighter says they are in his challenge to the Philadelphia scrapper, they must hold a very poor opinion of the men in the game over on this side of the pond.

Gunner Moir, on the doped, would last about one or two rounds at the most with O'Brien, the best line being furnished by the Gunner's recent battle with Jack Palmer. Palmer is a great big pug with no science and no punch. When O'Brien ducked to England to avoid meeting Fitzsimmons he looked around for some easy money and stumbled onto this same Palmer, and a match was either made or about to be made when Jack came rushing back to the States for some reason or another. He planted Palmer carefully for a later day stake, and has had him in mind ever since.

When the Englishmen heard that Palmer was going to fight O'Brien or any one else there was a laugh from one end of the United Kingdom to the other, and close followers of fighting over there declare that Jabez White, small as he is, could beat Palmer to death in less than ten rounds.

Then Moir turned around and had a hard time getting away with Palmer, but as a result of that battle the Gunner now thinks he is a real champion, and talks about a big bet and a big purse for a fight with O'Brien. If the purse and the bet are in sight it is a good bet that O'Brien will make the trip after he gets through with Burns.

A JOKE BY THE CADDY

Walter J. Travis was about to tee off. The green velvet links were beautiful in the limpid air of a brilliant and cold morning. Mr. Travis, smiling, said:

"A conceited stranger came here to play the other day. In a stunning suit he swaggered out, teed up his ball and was off.

WHOLESALE 92

"When he had holed out at No. 1 he said to his caddy:

"Where is the next hole, boy?"

"The caddy pointed to a red flag some 200 yards away.

"There, sir," he said.

"Ah," said the player, preparing for an enormous stroke, "that will just take a drive and a putt."

"And swish went his club through the air and a brown swirl of turf and dust arose, and the little white ball rolled slowly about eight feet.

"The caddy smiled and said:

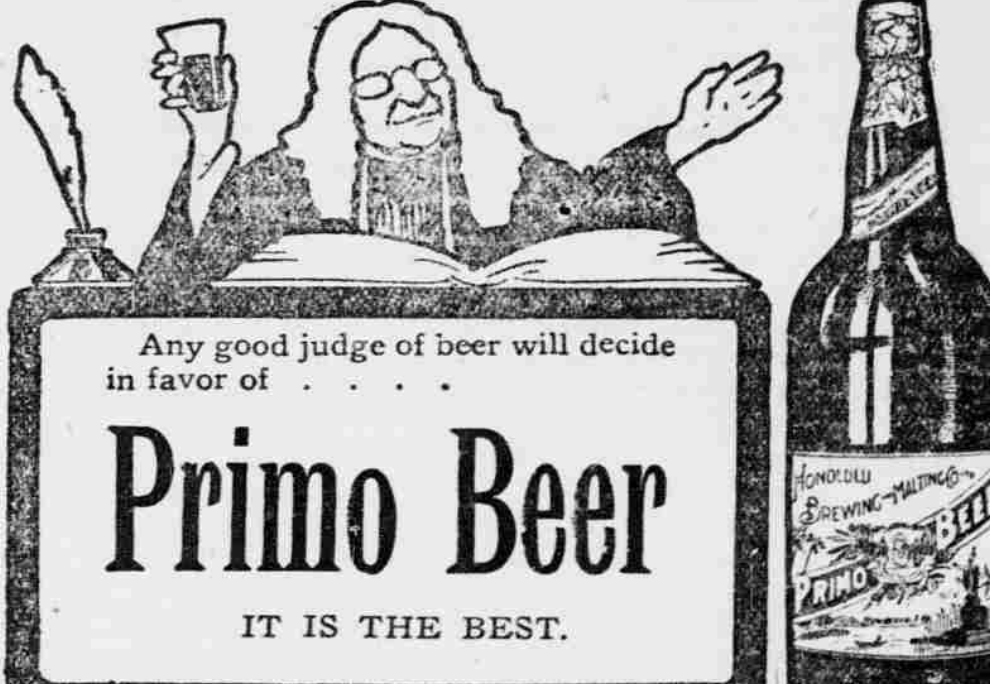

"Are you takin' the putt first, sir?"

THE MATTER OF FREE KICK

A correspondent asks if a referee is right in giving a free kick for an offence committed inside the penalty area. The answer is that obviously the referee is wrong in so doing, the rule stating distinctly that "In the event of any intentional infringement of Law 9 by the defending side within the penalty area the referee shall award the opponents a penalty kick." Law 9, referred to, states that: "Neither tripping, kicking nor jumping at a player shall be allowed. A player, the goal-keeper excepted, shall not handle the ball. A player shall not use his hands to hold or push an opponent. Charging must not be violent or dangerous. A player shall not be charged from behind unless he is intentionally obstructing an opponent."

Possibly the referee in question based his decision on the clause which provides for cases of unintentional breaches of the law. But under such circumstances no penalty, either free kick or penalty kick should be given.

Only under one condition may a referee refrain from awarding a penalty kick for an offence within the penalty area, and that is when he is satisfied that by enforcing the provisions of the law he would be giving an advantage to the offending side.

THIS HORSE A MONSTER

Up in Wyoming a lot of scientific grubbers have unearthed the fossil remains of a horse thirty feet long and more than thirty feet high. The grubbers seem to have pined the horse together without any comment and they do not offer a word of information concerning its genealogy or its track record. A horse thirty feet long would appear to be a lot of horse. If it belonged to the cave man the latter certainly had his hands full. A horse so tall that a thirty-foot ladder became necessary when a bridge was to be put on might well be called the pride of the stable—although no ordinary stable would begin to accommodate such a beast. If the cave man had no ladder and could not borrow one the next best thing was to climb a tree. Then try to imagine him shinning up a tall palm with the heavy bridle on his back, only to find when he attained the right altitude that the horse had moved beyond reach and was peacefully browsing on the tall grass of the jungle. Of course, a thirty-foot horse could be expected to cover much more ground than the ordinary animal of the same breed—even at a walk. When a thirty-foot horse shied at a bit of white paper in the roadway the chances are that he jumped clear over into the next county.

LOVE OF ANIMALS.

Mark Twain was talking of war and of the hardships and privations of sieges.

"A Frenchman," he said, "called one day on a woman who had two dogs. They were ugly little brutes, and, when they came near him, the man pushed them out of the way with his foot.

"I perceive, sir, you are not very fond of dogs."
"The man started in surprise. 'I'm not fond of dogs!' he exclaimed. 'Why, madam, I ate more than twenty of them during the siege of Paris!'"
